New Homes at The Apsley Apartments
Dickens Yard, Longfield Avenue, Ealing W5

The Apsley Apartments, coming in Spring / Summer 2012

• The new development will link three Victorian gems, the Town Hall, the Old Fire Station and the parish church of Christ the Saviour

• Traffic free streets and open spaces will be lined with shops and cafés

• Superb connections with Ealing Broadway Station only a short distance from the Apsley Apartments, providing direct tube (Central & District lines) and train links to the rest of London and Heathrow. Numerous bus services are also available from New Broadway, only moments away

• Apartments will be built above the ground level shops and will look out over quiet garden terraces or onto the streets surrounded by landscaped squares, with trees, plants and sculptures

• The 1 and 2 bedroom homes are designed to be warm, energy efficient and comfortable, featuring modern amenities in well-designed, accessible blocks set amongst new shops and public spaces
